

POLITICS ARE BEING PLAYED

New York And Philadelphia The Scene Of Bitterest Political Fights In Years.

CHICAGO ALSO HOLDS AN ELECTION

Pennsylvania, Ohio, Massachusetts. Have State; Cleveland, San Francisco, Indianapolis And Louisville, City Elections.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

New York, Nov. 7.—The election here today, although municipal, has attracted national attention because of the attitude of the candidates and their prominence. Mr. Jerome, who hopes for re-election as District Attorney has made a most brilliant fight against bossism and corruption in office. His opponent, former Assistant District Attorney, James Osborne, supported by Tammany, is conceded to have lost considerably in influence by his attacks upon Mr. Jerome. The Mayorality candidates are not so certain of election. Mr. McClellan, present Mayor, Mr. William K. Hearst and Judge William H. Lums, claim that they have gained during the past few days and are confident of election. Mr. Lums says that he hopes to be elected through the votes that Mr. Hearst has pulled away from the Tammany organization; Mayor McClellan says that he will be re-elected on the merits of his last administration and Mr. Hearst says that his platform and promises of fifty-cent gas and three-cent car fares will put him in office. The successful nominee will enjoy the benefit of the new law which makes the Mayor serve a four-year instead of a two-year term.

Heavy Vote
A heavy vote was cast early. It is an ideal day. It is probable that at least six hundred and thirty thousand of the six hundred and fifty-seven thousand registered will vote. The early morning was quiet and free from disturbances. The first assault was on the east side, but there were no arrests made. A policeman was the first one arrested for violation of the election laws. In one precinct on the Bowery 99 votes were cast in the first twenty minutes. Eight thousand police are on duty. The betting is two to one on McClellan and Jerome.

Women Pray in Philadelphia.
Philadelphia, Nov. 7.—The women of the North Branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union spent six hours today in the Twenty-ninth Street Methodist Episcopal church fasting and praying for reform and the cause of the city party. Among those who took part were Bishop McCabe and former Bishop Cyrus D. Foss, whose son is secretary of the City Reform Campaign committee. The campaign here has been one of the hottest and most sensational in the city, but the reformers are confident of success in their efforts to take the city government entirely out of the influence of corruption and graft.

Wild, Rough Day
With two murders already and two hundred prisoners in the cells held incommunicado since early this morning, the beginning of what promises to be the bloodiest election day in the history of Philadelphia has begun. All the information regarding the murders and arrests are denied at the city hall. Sheriff Mills swore in deputies and left the protection of the city to the mayor. The city party leaders are condemning actions of special policemen sworn in by the mayor, of whom there are about two thousand. The weather is unsettled with brisk west winds.

Many Arrests
Harbor Master Samuel G. Maloney, Magistrate James Fealy and ex-Lieutenant of Police James Carey, all Republican leaders, were arrested. Their friends are unable to get where they have been taken. So far a dozen polling places are closed and the election officers have appeared to the courts for protection. In one place the booths were wrecked. All the disorder is in the wards where the Republicans are conceded to be in a majority. Riot calls are turned in and police appear and arrest every one at the polls.

Maryland's Great Issue.
Baltimore, Nov. 7.—The election here today will determine whether Maryland is to disfranchise her colored voters or not. The Poe amendment, which deprives negroes of the privilege of voting, has the unqualified endorsement of Senator Arthur Poe Gorman, but is opposed by Senator Kayser, the junior representative of the State in the Senate. Secretary of the Navy, Bonaparte and the republicans have fought hard against the Poe amendment, though declaring against Negro domination, and the methods employed by both parties to win votes have been so successful on the surface that it is almost impossible to tell who will be victor when the returns are all in.

Indianapolis Like Philadelphia.
Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 7.—In every incorporated city in this State the first election under the new municipal code is being held today. Local issues are paramount, but the party leaders on both sides have worked hard for success as the new officers will serve four years. Under the present code the term is two years. The situation here is pretty much the same as in Philadelphia. Through-out the state the effect of Governor Hanly's law and order crusade has been evident during the campaign. In many places his position has been endorsed by both Republicans and Democrats. Whether the results of his efforts will be the placing of control in the hands of Republicans or Indianapolis again is to be decided by tonight's returns. Charles A. Bookwalter heads the Republican ticket for mayor, with Mayor John W. Holtzman, at the head of the Democratic party and George Hitz leading the Independents.

Republicans Hopeful in Ohio.
Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 7.—Republicans and Democrats are fighting for the control of the state today. Governor Myron T. Herrick heads the Republican ticket, while Ex-Governor John Patterson opposed him as head of the Democratic ticket. The Democrats have made big gains during the past few weeks and declare that they will win despite the support their opponents have received from Secretaries Taft and Shaw, during the campaign.

In Ohio
Cleveland, O., Nov. 7.—A big vote is being polled throughout the state today.

Close Gubernatorial Race.
Boston, Mass., Nov. 7.—The chief figures in the election here today are in the gubernatorial race, Hon. Curtis Guild, heading the Republican ticket, and Gen. Charles W. Bartlett, the Democratic. Tariff reform and reciprocity with Canada have figured prominently in the issues to be supported by the state.

Light in Boston.
Boston, Mass., Nov. 7.—The contest is chiefly for lieutenant governor. It is a light vote. Canadian reciprocity issue is also up.

At Oyster Bay
Oyster Bay, Nov. 7.—The President came home to vote today. His neighbors gathered at the station to greet him. He was met by the carriage from Sagamore Hill and taken to the polling place two blocks away. He grasped the hands of several friends and went in and voted. Secretary Loeb came down and voted in another precinct. The trip was made from Washington without any special incident. He was met at Long Island City by Emmelin Roosevelt and daughter, Christine, who accompanied the President to Oyster Bay and remained with him until he started back for Washington, which he did at 9:21.

Oppose Open Shop Clause.
Muskegon, I. T., Nov. 7.—The state constitution which is being voted upon today has aroused much opposition among organized labor leaders. The clause in the section relating to mining, prohibits employers from contracting to employ only union men. The unionists say that this is an incorporation of the "open shop" and they will seek the aid of all labor organizations in the United States to fight the proposed admission of the State of Sequoia before Congress.

Light Vote
Chicago, Ill., Nov. 7.—Gloomy weather, a light vote and lack of interest are the features of election here.

San Francisco, Nov. 7.—It is a clear day and a big vote is being polled.

Shooting in "Kentuck"
Louisville, Ky., Nov. 7.—At a voting precinct this noon Dr. Bullitt shot his son, George, and Col. George E. Keyburn was badly beaten. Both are members of the fusion party. It is reported that a general fight is in progress.

Dead Reckoning.
Dead reckoning is a term used in navigation to express the estimation that is made of a ship's place without having recourse to observation of the celestial bodies. It is made by observing the way she makes by the log, and the course on which she has been steered, making allowance for drift, leeway, etc.

Important French Industry.
The grape culture in France gives employment to over two million people.

Nye Regretted Sense of Humor.
It is related that Bill Nye often spoke, late in his life, of his gift of rare humor as a curse. His fun called upon him while his readers were still roasting. He saw himself as a buffoon, a clown, amusing the rabble—and the idea was not sweet to him.

SUICIDE-ACCIDENT OR A PLAIN MURDER?

Death of Miss Emily Ensign at Vassar College, is Considered Mysterious.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE]
Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Nov. 7.—Miss Emily Ensign, aged nineteen, of Youngstown, Ohio, a freshman at Vassar, was drowned early this morning in the lake on the college grounds. Despondency is supposed to be the theory of the suicide. The coroner is investigating for probable foul play.

LIGHT WORK MARKS COACH KING'S WORK

Will Prepare Carefully for the Michigan Game—Men Are in Good Shape.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Madison, Wis., Nov. 7.—Little football practice will be had at Madison this week in preparation for the badgers' final game of the season with Michigan at Ann Arbor a week from Saturday. Coaches King and Holt prepared their team for Minnesota with only two hard scrimmages, but gave hours and hours of signal work, secret drill in special formations and many lectures. The same tactics will be employed to win against the Wolverines. The men are in practically as good condition as before the gopher contest and the greatest care will be taken to keep them from becoming over-trained and "stale," and to avoid physical misfortunes that might come from hard scrimmages with the freshmen or second eleven. Joy over defeating Minnesota and the desire of the coaches to "ease up" on the training rigidity before starting after Michigan caused training to be broken temporarily after the game last Saturday, but the men are pulled down again to regulations.

Wisconsin wants Phil King to make a contract for another season before he leaves for the east two weeks hence. Early in the season he let it be known that he did not desire to coach after this fall, and it was simultaneously announced that the head coach personally desired that Assistant "Eddie" Holt be retained as head coach next year. The winning of the Minnesota game, however, has stimulated the demand that the two coaches who have worked together so well this year return for at least another season.

RAILROADS PLANNED TO CONTEST RIGHT

Decision of Judge Hastings Will Not Settle the Dispute Over Taxation.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Madison, Wis., Nov. 7.—A new point has been raised by the railroads operating in Wisconsin and a new set of cases have been brought contesting the legality of the ad valorem railroad assessment made in accordance with the law enacted in 1903. The first set of cases were brought against the first assessment under the law and these were decided by Circuit Judge Hastings last Saturday in favor of the state. If the law is sustained on appeal it means an increase of about half a million dollars a year in the taxes of the railroads. The railroads are now contesting the legality of the first assessment on the ground that the local assessors, whose work affects the rate of the railroad tax, was faulty and incomplete, resulting in an unwarranted high rate of railroad taxation. Judge Hastings decided that the local assessments were presumed to be correct and proper until judicially determined to be otherwise, and the railroads have now started to prove this point. In the new cases, started by the North-Western, Illinois Central, St. Paul and other roads Monday, the new point is raised that in some local taxing districts the rate was higher than the constitutional limit and therefore the local assessment and rate were illegal and void. Consequently, they claim, the state railroad assessment must be void, as it is determined in part at least on illegal local assessments and rates. It is said by attorneys that this is the most serious point yet raised by the corporations, and that if the ad valorem law fails to stand judicial test it will be on this issue.

BALFOUR MEETS A DELEGATION

Poor Starving Women Of London Come To Him To Petition His Help For Food.

WORKMEN ARE NOW DESPERATE.

Must Have Work To Earn Food To Eat, Or Starve To Death, They Assert--Balfour Makes No Promises.

London, Nov. 7.—The pressing needs of the poor of London were brought to the attention of Premier Balfour Monday by one of the most remarkable scenes ever witnessed in the metropolis.

The premier, who received a deputation, admitted the evil was real, but said he saw no immediate solution save through charity. This reply brought forth much criticism and was the cause of Balfour's name being hissed at a mass meeting held later.

A deputation of the wives and other women relatives of the unemployed did not hesitate to tell the premier that unless something is speedily done to lessen their sufferings there will be bloodshed.

"Don't forget that hungry men are desperate men," said one of the speakers, and all had the same tale to tell of husbands out of work and starving wives and children. The pinched faces and tattered clothing of the women, some of whom had babies in their arms, bore eloquent testimony of the truth of their complaints.

Balfour Receives Women.
Only thirty of the women were admitted to the presence of Mr. Balfour. The premier said he had little to suggest in the way of alleviation except an expression of hope that public charity would come to the aid of the unemployed. He deprecated the socialistic suggestion that industries should be started at the national expense for the unemployed as calculated to destroy the springs of enterprise and energy of the nation.

At the close of Mr. Balfour's "speech of despair," as the delegates described it, Mrs. Crooks, wife of William Crooks, a labor party member of the house of commons, and several other women excitedly invited Mr. Balfour to come, and live among them for a few months. The premier remarked that he was quite aware that nothing he had said could be other than disappointing; they had his genuine sympathy, and he felt most acutely the magnitude of the evil from which they were suffering.

Hisses for Premier.
A mass meeting of the women was held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon to hear the report of the delegation. Mr. Crooks, M. P., and others made speeches. Mr. Crooks said Mr. Balfour's reply to the delegation was unworthy of the premier of a great country. The mention of Mr. Balfour's name was greeted with a storm of hisses.

Men Must Have Work.
Mr. Crooks added that they had started an agitation which would not cease until every man who wanted work was supplied with sufficient to support his wife and children.

The speaker urged his hearers to continue the agitation. He said that a revolution in England would not be behind the revolution in Russia in securing the demands of the people. The meeting unanimously adopted a resolution to the effect that the meeting would break up amid uproarious scenes and the singing of the "Marseillaise," perhaps the first time it ever was heard on the streets of London under such circumstances.

The condition of the poor borders on that which preceded the commencement of the reign of terror in Paris, when the attacks of the commune appalled the world. The men who are most active in the condemnation of industrial conditions are bona fide laborers who have searched diligently for employment in vain. They are averse to being considered paupers, and want a chance to earn an honest living.

HOLDS UNION PACIFIC MUST SHARE BRIDGES

Mason City and Fort Dodge Given Permission to Use Structure Over Missouri River.

Washington, Nov. 7.—Justice Brewer of the Supreme court of the United States delivered the opinion of that court in the case of the Union Pacific Railroad company against the Mason City and Fort Dodge Railroad company, affirming the decree of the Circuit Court of Appeals for the Eighth circuit. The case involved the right to use the railroad bridge across the Missouri river at Omaha.

On May 1, 1890, the Union Pacific Railroad company made two contracts, one with the Rock Island company and the other with the Milwaukee & St. Paul company, by which the former granted the latter the joint use of the bridge. Subsequently, under a different management, the Union Pacific Railroad company refused to carry out the contracts or to permit the other companies to use the bridge, and suit was brought in the Circuit Court of the United States to enforce the contracts. The Circuit court held the contracts good, and entered a decree enforcing them.

The decision of the Circuit court was based solely on the contracts. Subsequently the Union Pacific Railroad company made like arrangements with the Northwestern and

SUPPORT COT IN SUNSHINE LODGE

WORK OF LOCAL BRANCH OF THE INTERNATIONAL SOCIETY.

MEMORIAL TO MRS. ECHLIN

Carry on Other Charitable Work—
Local Society is Composed of Twenty Women.

As a whole the public pays a varied attention to the different orders, societies and clubs in its midst. To some considerable notice is given, to others less, while there are a few of which scarcely anything is heard of. In the latter class belongs one in Janesville which brings happiness, not only in its benefactions, but also in its efforts to accomplish its end—scattering sunshine. It is a branch of the International Sunshine society, whose headquarters are in New York City. The "Sunshine Bulletin" reports the following branches in Wisconsin: Janesville, Ashland, Eau Claire, Milwaukee, New Richmond, Fond du Lac (two), and Superior. Every branch works as it chooses, and is not confined to any special charity.

Has Memorial Cot
Within the past year there has been established and endorsed by the national body a home for blind babies in Brooklyn, N. Y., the gift of loving hearts. This is the only home where these little unfortunates are received and cared for. The Sunshine lodge at Hillcrest, New York, was the gift of a gentleman in Brooklyn and intended only for a summer home for children and tired mothers; through the generosity of friends it is continued through the year. Nearly two years ago a beloved member of the Janesville branch was removed by death—Mrs. Claryssa Bassett Echlin. Soon after, as a memorial to her, a cot was endowed at Hillcrest. At the head of this hangs a cabinet picture of her, given by her daughters. For one month this summer it was occupied by a little German girl from Brooklyn, N. Y., from whom the local president, Miss Helen E. Hunt, received the following letter:

Hillcrest Sunshine Lodge, N. Y.,
Sunday, July 22, 1935.
Dear Miss Hunt:

I am the girl that sleeps on the Claryssa Bassett Echlin cot. My sister sleeps on the Claryssa cot next to me. We both sleep in a little room upstairs.

I was never in the country before. Mrs. Alden takes my sister and I out riding in the lake every day. We are learning to swim.

I never saw a pig before, so I thought it was a buffalo. I have read about mountains, but ever saw one until I came to this place. It's just a big hill, that's all. Saturday we all went out picking raspberries. My hair comes way down below my waist and it is very hard to comb it, but I comb it every morning myself. Saturday night there was a surprise party across the lake. I did not go to it because I went for the mail.

My mother does not know how to write English, but I have an older sister home that can write. She is 12 years old. She could not come, for she had to mind the baby. My mother is German.

Mrs. Alden sleeps in the tent with five boys. The girls all sleep in the house. There are 27 people here. Monday another little girl is coming up. She is going to sleep on the cot after I go home. I never had so many berries before as I have now.

I wish all your little sunshine boys and girls were here. If they come to the city I will show them the cars that go above the houses and another car that goes underneath the houses. Mrs. Alden feels my bones every day to see if I get any fatter. I thank you.

BIGGEST GAME OF SEASON SATURDAY

Fort Atkinson and Janesville Will Battle on Local Gridiron—
Mass Meeting.

At Athletic park Saturday afternoon will be played the biggest football game that is scheduled for a local gridiron this season. It will be between the Fort Atkinson and Janesville high schools, old rivals, and it is expected to be a battle royal. Both eleven have thus far met with indifferent success this season. Janesville has won high honors and been badly defeated, while Fort Atkinson has a clear record. Some line on the two may be gained from their games with Evansville. Janesville played her's early in the season and tied with a naught to naught score. Fort Atkinson played her's a week ago. She won, but the victory came on a fluke. The ball was carried forty yards for the only touchdown of the game by a Fort player into whose possession it came on an Evansville fumble.

Fort Team Disbanded
In the Evansville game Fort Atkinson lost her star back, Sullivan. He received a fractured collar-bone and is out of the game for the rest of the season. Janesville played Saturday and the week previously without her captain, Devin. He expects to be in the game Saturday and is practicing daily. Both contestants are this week putting forth great efforts to rid themselves of the fumbling habit, to gain speed and to perfect their formations. The weather is cool and Coach Haumerson is giving the locals stiff work every afternoon, at the close of school. So far as weight is concerned the teams are about evenly matched. In nearly all of the other games this season Janesville has been outweighted. In Milwaukee it was twenty pounds to the man.

Plan Mass-Meeting
A mass-meeting to arouse enthusiasm among the students, practice a few yells and if possible revive a number of the old football songs, will be held in the high school building Friday evening. In Fort Atkinson similar gatherings will be held. The students there expect to bring a large crowd of rosters, making the trip on a special. At their own expense they have billed their home city and the surrounding towns, hoping thus to enlarge their number of supporters. It is expected that over 500 rosters will arrive here shortly after noon next Saturday.

GEO. PERRING GOES TO THE OMAHA CLUB

Beloit College Third Baseman, Who Also Played on Janesville's Team and in State League, Is Drafted.

Great things are expected of George Perring, captain of the Beloit club and star third baseman of the Wisconsin baseball league, who has been drafted by the Omaha team of the Western League for next season. Perring played on the Beloit College nine last spring and during the previous summer was a member of Captain Fred Blakeley's Janesville team which played a number of notable games at Yost's Park. He is twenty years old and his home is in the town of Sharon. Besides proving himself the best third baseman in the Wisconsin league he established a record as a long hitter and in faster company it is believed that a bright career awaits him.

The attendance was light owing to the frigid atmosphere. No one was injured in either game.

ONLY GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE

"Hyomei Costs You Nothing If It Fails." Say The People's Drug Company.

Among the many medicines upon the market that claim to cure catarrh none but Hyomei has enough faith in its own merit to offer to refund the money if it does not cure. Hyomei is the only method of treatment that sends by direct inhalation to the most remote parts of the air passages, a balsamic air that destroys all catarrhal germs in the breathing organs, enriches and purifies the blood with additional ozone, and makes permanent and complete cures of catarrh.

The complete outfit costs $1.00 and comprises an inhaler, a bottle of Hyomei and a dropper. The inhaler will last a lifetime, and additional bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50c. Breathe Hyomei for a few minutes four times a day, and your catarrh will grow better from the first day's use, and will be completely cured within a short time.

It is the only treatment for catarrh where you can get your money back from a local dealer, the People's Drug Company, in case it does not help.

An extra freight was run out of here to Mineral Point today. The engine and crew will return this evening with a stock train off the Mineral Point and Northern.

A new ruling has gone into effect whereby all firemen who have passed examinations for the position of engineer, will not be allowed to fire on regular runs any longer. It has been the custom generally that firemen who have passed examinations for engineer have been given the preference over other firemen and when not used as extra engineers they have picked out the easiest and best paying "runs" to fire. This system has been a great handicap to the fireman in general and the railroad officials, recognizing this fact, have accepted the new ruling. As there is plenty of extra running to do men who have been restricted to this branch of service, or they cannot accept the less preferable positions of firing.

New York Letter.
New York: The great railroad systems of the country will break all records in expenditures for improvements during the coming year. Some will not wait until after January, but are letting contracts for work which is to be started immediately. As it is intended to exceed the plans of the Pennsylvania, which recently placed an order for 21,000 cars, the New York Central has given orders to several manufacturing companies for 25,000 cars, calling for an expenditure of about $25,000,000. The Erie has just received the last of a consignment of 159 locomotives, there being included in the lot 16 of the largest locomotives ever built exclusively for passenger service. The tremendous scale on which the railroads are the pressure under which they are working to care for the traffic that is being offered to them.

In addition to its large number of cars, just ordered, the Pennsylvania Railroad is planting 600,000 locust seedlings on its properties at various places along the Susquehanna and Juniata rivers in order not to be dependent upon lumber shipped from territories far from the line. It is the company's intention to plant about 2,000,000 of these trees. Owing to the increase of vast railroad operations the forests near the railroad have been stripped so that ties for the most part have to be brought from a distance and every year the distance grows greater. For this reason about 620,000,000 cross-ties to furnish the railroads of the United States annually and to fill this demand about 200,000 acres of woodland are yearly wiped out.

New Version of An Old Adage

Do You Eat for Mere Stimulation Or For Real Nutrition?

In matters of money there is an old adage that says: "It's not so much what you earn as what you save," and just so, in the question of food and health, it might be said as truly, "It's not so much what you eat as what real nourishment you get out of what you eat."

This is the secret of health, strength and vitality. No difference how much nutrition your food contains, if your system does not assimilate that nutrition—take it up and distribute it throughout your body—you gain nothing beyond a temporary stimulation by having eaten it.

Malta-Vita, best whole white wheat mixed with pure barley malt extract, thoroughly steamed and cooked and every flake baked to a crisp, is rich in nutrition and is assimilated readily even by the weakest stomach. Every one of the health-giving, strength-building elements is taken up by the human economy to nourish and sustain life.

No wonder that Malta-Vita is called "The Perfect Food," and that physicians recommend it for the sick and the well, the weak and the strong.

And Malta-Vita is so good to eat—not at all like the tasteless variety of flaked foods. A perfect breakfast is impossible without it and it's just as good three times a day. Try a bowlful with cream or fruit. You never tasted anything so good.

Malta-Vita is always ready to eat. No cooking, no inconvenience. All grocers, 10 cents.

= FORTY YEARS AGO =

Janesville Daily Gazette, Tuesday, November 7, 1865.—Promotions.—The following promotions of Wisconsin officers for gallant services in the Southwest, have been received at Madison. Colonel Jonathan B. Moore 33d regiment, and Colonel Conrad Krez, 27th, to be Brigadier General by brevet; Captain George B. Carter, Captain A. L. Fitch, and Captain Charles W. Stark, 33d, to be majors by brevet.

Major Stark entered the service as a private in the 13th Regiment, and has well won the above promotion, he resides at Tiffany in this county.

Judge Noggle—Judge David Noggle has resigned his seat in this judicial circuit, to take effect on December first. He is to resume the practice of law in the city of Janesville. We very much doubt whether our State has ever produced a circuit judge that has presided as long on the bench as Judge Noggle, that has given more general satisfaction, or has displayed more integrity and ability as an upright judge. It is a position in which every man that acts the judge must necessarily make some soreheads.—Racine Journal.

We copy the above because it is a just tribute to an eminent man, and one of the best citizens of Wisconsin, and because we have wanted to say something about Judge Noggle.

We regard Judge Noggle as being one of the best men of brains in the State. His ability, his high character, his fidelity to establish friendships, his thorough Democracy—ingrained and grounded on principles—his essential qualities as a man of the people, render him, in our opinion, one of the foremost men in the State.

We look to see Judge Noggle the recipient of higher honors than he has ever enjoyed or for which he has struggled.—Madison Capitol.

The Number of Languages.—The least learned are aware that there are many languages in the world, but the actual number is probably beyond the dreams of ordinary people. The geographer Balbi enumerated 800, which are entitled to be considered as distinct languages, and 5,000 which may be regarded as dialects. Adding, another modern writer on this subject, reckons up 3,004 languages and dialects existing and which have existed. Even after we have allowed either of these as the number of languages, we must acknowledge the existence of almost infinite more diversities, for a tongue more or less peculiar, and this we may believe to be the case throughout the world at large. It is said that there are little islands lying close together in the South Sea, and the inhabitants of which do not understand each other. Of the 800 distinct languages enumerated by Balbi, 52 belong to Oceania, by which term we distinguish the vast number of islands stretching between Hindustan and South America.

..COMING ATTRACTIONS..

The home of Rev. Milo Towers, the scene of the first act of Jos. R. Grismer's production of "Sky Farm," is a very handsome interior and one will, it is said, notice its perfection of detail down to the little stocking hanging on the line at the fireplace, for it is the night before Christmas. The now famous postoffice set is considered another wonder in the matter of correctness and elaborateness of detail. One can see even the old-fashioned one-cent sticks of barley candy in the glass jars on the counter and at the back of the cozy sitting room of the widowed postmistress. It is a picture which will linger in the memory, particularly as it is associated with some of the best of the rollicking humor with which this play is filled. The piece has attracted thousands of the most critical of theatersgoers. It is to be shown here at the Myers Grand this evening.

A DEBT TO HUMANITY

REV. MR. LINDELL OF CHICAGO SAYS OF FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE: "YOU OWE IT TO HUMANITY TO MAKE THIS MEDICINE KNOWN."

Miss Lindell, daughter of Rev. Mr. Lindell of 5357 State St., Chicago, Ill., has gone to Las-Vegas, New Mexico, in the hope of getting cured of consumption. She is at the new "Fraternal City," just outside of Las Vegas, where it is expected that within a year 100,000 consumptives will be located, living in tents.

This lady has derived great benefit from the use of Father John's Medicine, but when her brother tried to purchase some of this old remedy for her in Las Vegas, it was not possible to do so. Her brother knew how important it was that his sister should have Father John's Medicine every day, so he telegraphed to Chicago for a bottle, which cost as follows:—

Telegram $0.60
Express 1.00
Father John's Medicine 1.00

Total $2.60

Mr. Lindell says that even at this price, he would not be without the medicine for his sister. Now the druggists in Las Vegas keep Father John's Medicine in stock for the benefit of the consumptive sufferers to whom Mr. Lindell has recommended it. He says: "Father John's Medicine will be the means of health to thousands as soon as it becomes really known here. You owe it to humanity to make this medicine known."

Assisted at Brooklyn

The Evansville fire department was asked for assistance by the citizens of Brooklyn last Thursday night, the business portion of that village being in flames and the fire beyond the control of the local department.

The Evansville boys, commanded by Assistant Fire Chief Fred Gilman, responded. They worked faithfully all night long, but were handicapped by a limited supply of water. The greatest service was rendered by the hook and ladder company, which helped check the progress of the conflagration by raising buildings around burning sections.

Are Beginning to Sit Up.

The daily paper recently said that the great American people are beginning to SET UP AND TAKE NOTICE of present conditions. Standard oil and beer trusts, &c., &c., have had them all asleep and at their mercy, but things are changing. The people want to know WHY AND HOW and a lot of things they have a right to know, when it comes to the price they HAVE TO PAY for what they need. Just so about dentistry.

SIT UP AND TAKE NOTICE that you need not pay $10 for a gold crown when Dr. Richards, a college graduate with 16 years' experience, will do this kind of work for you for one-half of that price and guarantee that the work will be EQUAL in ALL respects to that done by any local dentist whatever.

To do this he doesn't have to cheapen the work a particle, for at $5 each there is still a fair margin of profit to him for his labor.

Save your hard-earned money and have your work done PAINLESSLY in the bargain by consulting Dr. Richards for your dentistry.

PLAN CONCERTS FOR THE WINTER

MUSICAL-LITERARY CLUB HAS CHANGED ITS NAME.

IS NOW THE APOLLO CLUB

Forty of Its Members Will Present Club With a Handsome Grand Piano This Week.

The Musical-Literary club met last night at Library Hall, and by unanimous vote its name was changed to The Apollo Club. The old organization remains intact, the only change being in the name. The club is to be congratulated on its new title, as its old one was too long and somewhat misleading.

Apollo was the god of music, vocal and instrumental. He invented the lyre, and possibly the lyre also. He was the leader of the nine Muses, in whose keeping was confided music and all the kindred arts. No name could be happier than The Apollo Club; perhaps none so happy.

It is now an open secret that some forty of Janesville's music-loving citizens have united in the purchase of a grand piano as a gift to the club. This princely gift will reach here during the week, and will be formally presented, accepted and installed at 8 o'clock next Monday night at Library Hall, by a grand concert in which many noted artists from other cities will take part.

The Apollo Club intends that this concert shall mark the beginning of notable musical entertainments for the coming winter. Talent will be brought from Chicago, Milwaukee and other cities to assist the many accomplished musicians, vocal and instrumental, who have been members of the club for many years and are entitled to the highest praise for their unselfish labors in elevating the musical standards of our city.

Library Hall will seat only 240 people. For this reason, the club determined at its meeting last night that only members who pay their annual dues shall be entitled to the privileges of the club. The dues are fixed at $1.50 for associate members and $1 for active members. All former members are earnestly invited to be present and perfect their membership next Monday night. The same cordial invitation is extended to all others who desire to join the club.

Guests of members must be non-residents of this city. The seating capacity is too small to permit members to bring as guests those who live in Janesville.

Mr. C. S. Beers, the secretary, will be at Library Hall at 7:30 next Monday night, half an hour before the concert, to receive applications and the payment of dues. He will also receive dues and applications at his office in the Jackson block at all times during business hours. It is hoped that a sufficient number will avail themselves of this opportunity to join the club to pack Library Hall to its capacity. All extra concerts given by the club will be absolutely free to its members.

Sixteen noted musicians from other cities will assist our own next Monday night at the inaugural concert. A complete program will appear in Saturday's paper.

OWNED FIRST STORE IN JANESVILLE TOWN

Alexander G. Hart Dies in Rockton After Long Residence in This District.

Alexander G. Hart, reputed the first merchant in the city of Janesville, died Sunday morning at his home in Rockton, aged 84 years and nine months. Sunday thus marked the passing of another of the aged citizens of this vicinity. Mr. Hart had been a resident at Rockton during 48 years. Coming to Wisconsin when the commonwealth was a territory he first engaged in business in the settlement of Janesville. It is asserted on very good authority that his mercantile establishment in the village that was destined to become the county seat of Rock county was the first store in the place. Later Mr. Hart became interested in mining properties in the west but during almost half a century he has been a continuous resident of Rockton. Besides a wife, who is in feeble health, Mr. Hart leaves five daughters: Mrs. S. T. Julian of Rockton; Mrs. J. M. Davidson of Clinton, Iowa; Mrs. C. Brown of Salem, Oregon; and Mrs. W. C. Loomis and Mrs. L. L. Briggs of Rockton. The funeral services, which were conducted by the Masonic order, were conducted from the house at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

VERY DELIBERATE IN PAYING TAXES

Janesville Property Owners Are Slower Than Ever Before

This Fall.
The list of taxpayers who, have called to settle with the city treasurer is 500 short of what it has been at this time in other years. If the tax collections were to be complete, which it never is, the list would be short nearly a thousand. For only about 1,700 of the 2,500 taxpayers in the city have put in an appearance. In all cases where taxes are not paid judgment is to be taken on Nov. 20. This method is adopted in lieu of making a return of delinquent property as in the case of county and state taxes. Many of those who have not yet paid are among the wealthiest property-owners in the city.

FACETIOUS WITH THE COMMISSIONER

Railroad Bridge Crew, Detected by Jas. Sennett in Act of Sneaking in a Board Sidewalk, Indulged in Levity.

Early this morning a bridge-repair crew of the C. & N. W. Ry. Co., consisting of a giant foreman and four helpers, unloaded some planking just north of the viaduct on North River street and hastily removing the old, detached sidewalk on the eastern side of that thoroughfare, commenced laying a new one in its place. Operations were proceeding with the greatest dispatch and quietude when Street Commissioner James Sennett appeared on the scene.

"Don't you know there is an ordinance in this city forbidding the replacing of board walks with anything other than brick, cement, or some such material," he said, addressing the foreman.

"We are from the Klondike," responded that worthy, "and we don't know anything about what ordinances you have here in Beloit."

"This isn't Beloit I'll have you understand, and if you know what's best for you, you'll stop right where you are!" exclaimed Mr. Sennett.

About three rods of the walk had been finished at this time and the workmen were laying the stringers for two rods more. They went right on working and the foreman stated facetiously that he had his orders from headquarters and that was enough for him.

Street Commissioner Sennett went to the city hall and presently Officer Brown appeared on the scene. When the big foreman was informed that he and his men could stop work or go to jail, they cheerfully chose to keep their freedom and quit work.

Now it remains to be seen what the city council, long harassed by the Kastner sidewalk imbroglio, will do about the matter.

SPECIAL ROOMS FOR JUNIOR DEPARTMENT

Y. M. C. A. Management Plans to Finish Off Basement of Annex, if Possible.

Juniors of the local Y. M. C. A. are working strenuously now to enlarge the membership of their department. They now number about fifty and are putting forth strong efforts to more than double this. All this interest is the result of a promise given them at their quarterly banquet last Thursday evening. It was proposed by one representing the management of the Association to finish off the basement of the annex for the special use of the juniors when the membership would warrant such an action. These rooms would compare to the parlors that are furnished for the intermediate and Senior members. They would be open through the day and in early evening, giving the lads a place to enjoy themselves at all times. Under the present system the juniors are excluded from the parlors except on the afternoons of Monday and Thursday and morning of Saturday—the times of their gymnasium classes.

Willis Wilcox entered the employ of the Association as janitor of the building.

The report of the commissioners appointed to hear arguments and assess the damages to property of a right-of-way for the Rock County Telephone Co. through the alley that forms the first connection between Court and Milwaukee streets on the west side of the bridge, has been filed. An appeal will be taken from the award of the commissioners to the circuit court and the case probably tried at the approaching term.

WHIPPED WIFE WITH RAWHIDE

FRANK A. RADER TRANSCENDED ALL BOUNDS.

SO READS THE COMPLAINT

According to the Charges of His Wife and the Findings of the Court—She Obtains Divorce.

On charges of extreme cruelty, including one to the effect that on Sunday, October 22, last, upon returning to his home on Washington street and finding her crying, in the presence of her little daughter, he called her vile and opprobrious names and with a raw-hide horsewhip beat and bruised her, covering her body with black and blue marks, Mrs. Nellie A. Rader has secured in circuit court a decree of divorce from her former husband, Frank A. Rader. The court also gives the much-abused woman the custody of the two children, Vernetta and Albert, aged 13 and 11 years, and the possession of the household furniture; taxes the cost of the action to the defendant; and has decreed that for the support and maintenance of the family Rader shall pay Mrs. Rader $50 each month.

Failed to Appear
Mrs. Rader was represented in her action by the law-firm of Pierce & Fisher. The defendant failed to put in an appearance. Rader is engaged in the business of conducting and establishing commercial agencies in cities and is away from home much of the time. His former wife estimates his annual income at $2,500. It is shown in the proceedings that they were married on June 16, 1891, and that the husband began to ill-use his wife as early as the spring of 1895, when they were living in Belvidere, and that she subsequently left him and returned to her former home in the village of Clinton to live with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Isham. Later, on his promise to treat her better she returned to him.

Gave Her Black Eye
In 1897 she charges that he beat and bruised her and threw her against a door and choked her and in January, 1902, she alleges that he struck her in the eye with his clenched fist, discolored that member and otherwise injuring her. In December 1904, these outrageous performances were repeated. All the charges are sustained by the court and every request she makes granted.

A JOKE FOR SMOKERS

Try It on Your Bald-Headed Friends and Have a Laugh.

If you smoke a cigar that burns with good solid ashes that will not fall off until the cigar is half smoked up, such a cigar as the "Madworth Bros." Chicos, sold by the Smith Drug Co., you can have a good joke on some bald-headed friend.

When there is an inch or two of ash on the end of the cigar just let it fall on that bald head and see how high it can jump. The ashes are not hot enough to burn, but they are warm enough to be felt.

The Chicos are a real ten-cent Havana filled cigar that the Smith Drug Co. sell for a nickel, and is the only 5c cigar where the ashes are firm and solid like those of expensive grades. You will enjoy a Chico anyway, so try one and see how good it is.

BRAN AND MIDDINGS

Athletics and Athletes

A Real "Phenom."

Safere, San Francisco's One Legged Tennis Player, Is Plucky—Gossip.

San Francisco has a wonder in the way of a tennis player. He is Matthew Safere, a young man who depends upon one leg and a crutch to do what other people usually require two good legs to help them accomplish in the active running and leaping of the strenuous game. Visitors to Golden Gate park find the course a place of great interest as long as he is in the game, which is generally all the afternoon.

Matthew made up his mind that because he had lost his right leg in an accident was no reason why he should be debared from the health giving activities of end of door sport.

So he started in to learn the game of tennis, and although he has been playing only a short time he now has the reputation of being a fine player.

To cover the court successfully with only one leg and a crutch is an exceedingly difficult thing. To add to this handicap the plucky player has to carry his crutch with his right hand, so though he is naturally right handed, he was obliged to learn from the first to play the game from the left side.

He has a fine knowledge of the game and uses and makes the same strokes as any other good player who has the use of his good right arm and both legs.

Safere has a fine smash, and his back court work is very good.

In serving and returning the ball and also in clever back hand work his crutch does not seem to materially handicap him, and he says that an afternoon at tennis is one of the keenest pleasures that he has.

Ahmed Madrell, the Turk, defeated Tom Jenkins, the American wrestler, in two straight falls recently in London. The match, which was catch-as-catch-can, was for $500 a side and a purse of $750. The Turk, who is both taller and heavier than the American, had all the advantage of the bouts. He scored the first fall in 19 minutes 38 seconds and the second in 22 minutes 46 seconds.

Ed Custer has proved himself the fastest two-year-old of the season, having defeated an extraordinarily good field of baby trotters at Cincinnati. Ed Custer is a chestnut gelding, is a remarkably handsome individual and is exceedingly well developed for his age, being "all baron," from head to foot. He is by Baronmore, sire of the sensational Futurity winner Peter Stirling, 2:11½, and his dam was Marble, 2:14, by Clay King. He was bred by

MATTHEW SAFERE SMASHING A HIGH ACE.

D. C. Palmer, proprietor of the Riverside farm, Berlin, Wis., who also bred Peter Stirling, Ed Custer has been educated by J. B. Chandler, and that is sufficient to say that his manners and gait are pretty nearly perfect, for the veteran colt handler always turns them out in good shape. This two-year-old first came prominently before the public at Gatesburg, when he was worked a mile in 2:10½.

JERSEY AUTO BOOM.

Beach Racing Has Grown Popular—Feed the Sport.

New Jersey's beach resorts will be headquarters for automobile racing in the north next season. The beach courses which have been discovered and these which are yet to be discovered will form a continuous circuit. Nor have these beaches, so long neglected, been found wanting, for at Cape May a mile has been made in thirty-eight seconds, and the Atlantic City beach record for Cape May, as it happens.

The meets of this year have served to introduce the tracks, and another year it will be quite easy to secure better entry lists. This will be the case without a doubt, as the attendance has been phenomenal at both Atlantic City and Cape May. From twenty to a hundred thousand people have witnessed the races.

The promoters at Cape May and at Atlantic City both propose to hold races southwardly next year, and another beach is to be added to the list by W. J. Morgan.

The success of the two meets has caused plans for new hotels and garages to mature rapidly, and the season of 1906 will see every accommodation for the visitors right at the beaches.

Barley Connelly, the Maine welterweight, is anxious for another meeting with Harry Bids. The last fight at Portland was a lively one, and Connelly feels certain that in another trial he can get the award. Man and money are ready at any time.

Football Is Most Uncertain

How Schultz, Unknown Columbia Substitute, Rose to National Fame In a Few Seconds—Captain Hurley of Harvard Hopes to Defeat Yale.

Football is more uncertain than the stock market, horse racing, the roulette wheel or the wheat pit. Reputations are made and lost in seconds. Victories and defeats are such uncertain quantities that oftentimes the most trivial influences will swing the balance up or down.

ROBERT S. SCHULTZ, JR., OF COLUMBIA.

Robert S. Schultz, Jr., of Columbia university is an example of the game's uncertainty.

He is only a substitute quarterback on the Columbia eleven, but he is the hero of the university. Recently he saved his team from defeat in a game with Amherst at American League park, New York, kicking a goal from field in the last five seconds of play. This did not win, but it tied the score at 10 to 10.

This was Schultz's second play of the game, and the angle was a hard one, but it was the only chance. The 3,000 Columbia rooters were wild with excitement, and the hitherto unknown quarterback was carried off the field on the backs of those who reached him first.

All conditions were against Schultz. In a fading light, at a hard angle and with an adverse wind he sent the leather whizzing over the bar from the thirty yard line, and as it descended to the ground the call of "Time!" rung out. It was a narrow squeeze, but Schultz's gameness and courage stood him well.

The result of the game was not a victory such as followed on the goal from field that Poe of Princeton made against Yale one memorable November afternoon, nor did such great things depend upon the outcome, but in its way it was not much less a thing than the one Poe did, and Poe rose no more to the occasion than did Schultz.

Captain Hurley of Harvard has whipped his men into splendid shape

CAPTAIN HURLEY OF HARVARD.

In spite of the failure of several promising candidates to develop good form, Hurley and his coaches believe that they will send against Yale an eleven certain to penetrate the heavy New Haven line for a victory.

Captain Hurley is fortunate to have the services of Bill Reid as head coach. Reid is one of the greatest gridiron strategists in America.

Terry McGovern.

Will the Noted Featherweight Again Climb to Pugilistic Heights?

Has Terry McGovern "come back"? Will he once more wear championship laurels? These are questions light followers everywhere are now asking.

McGovern did the sensational in knocking out Tommy Murphy before two minutes of the first round had elapsed in their bout at the National A. C. in Philadelphia recently. This was no small feat. Murphy had never before been knocked out, and all his work had been of high grade. In various bouts he had been pitted against pretty nearly every zool boy of his weight and, save when Abe Accell out-punched him, had never failed to emerge a winner.

The stories about McGovern's condition had shaken the confidence of even the men who have backed him through thick and thin. The betting on the result showed Murphy at least an even choice. But in the actual going Tommy's science was nothing beside Terry's hitting power.

Even had not McGovern put home that one fatal blow so early in the fight, he would in all likelihood have landed Murphy before the limit.

At his best McGovern shared with Young Corbett the distinction of possessing the hardest punch of any little man in the ring. Apparently he still has it. If he is all right in other respects, if he can keep cool and stand a fair amount of grueling, he must still be reckoned with. It must be remembered that Young Corbett is the only man who ever dropped the Brooklyn boy. It would be an astonishing feat if Terry should come back and go once more into the championship. Experts are not lacking who think this within the possibilities.

Because McGovern knocked out Murphy it will not do to jump to the conclusion that the Terror will now go down the line and vanquish everybody in the roped arena. True, his performance against the featherweight was excellent and shows that McGovern has much of the speed and vigor that made him so feared a few years ago. One thing has been demonstrated in this case. No man who lacks a knock-out punch can hope to beat him. With a light blitzer in front of him McGovern will sail in and assimilate jabs and slaps as a duck shakes water from its back. And Terry will keep on going.

TERRY MCGOVERN.

Still he has his punch on the Corbett. It takes a stiff puncher like Corbett to stop the rushes of the Brooklyn boy and send him to the land of nod. Murphy landed all right on the jaw of the Terror, but there was not enough steam in the punch to check the rush of his opponent, and when McGovern realized that fact he sailed in with all canvas set and soon had his man down and out.

When Terry made his appearance in the ring to meet Murphy he was a trifle nervous and fidgety, but as soon as the bout started he was all right. Nearly all in the house were glad to see the little fellow display his old time fighting qualities. McGovern and Nelson will probably meet before next spring. Sam Harris, who brought Terry to the front, was at the ringside, and after the bout he said that Terry would make things warm for any one near his class.

POLO FALLING OFF.

Lack of Central Meeting Ground Proves a Drawback to Game.

One great drawback to the development of polo is that there is no central meeting ground in the United States, the same as there is in England at Hurlingham. In America the polo clubs are scattered over a wide area, and it is a matter of considerable expense for the players to take part in the different tournaments, which of late have resolved themselves largely into local affairs.

In the springtime Philadelphia makes the best showing of any city in which polo is played, and the Rockaway and Meadowbrook (N. Y.) tournaments in late years had a very good list of entries, but the best team is so top heavy that the others have no chance for the big events.

TO IGNORE THE STATE INQUIRY

Investigation Is to Be Conducted Independently of That Held in New York and Without Regard to Results Achieved There.

New York, Nov. 7.—That there will be a federal investigation of life insurance and insurance methods, and that President Roosevelt is taking an active interest in the matter and will, in all likelihood, at an early date ask for the appointment of a congressional committee to take up the work, was learned from an authority, the value of which cannot be questioned.

The inquiry will be conducted independently of the state legislative committee, in spite of any results which may follow the committee's report. It is declared the revelations brought out by the state board have been the incentive which led President Roosevelt and his advisers to take up the question of a federal inquiry.

President Roosevelt already has considered the matter, according to the informant, and during the last two or three weeks frequently has been in conference with men prominent in the insurance world. It is known that Paul Morton, head of the Equitable Life Assurance society, was in Washington Monday and may have had a conference with the president.

Wall Street Hears Rumor.

The sponsor for the statement that there will be a governmental inquiry would not permit his name to be used, declaring the plans, although they already had been formulated and that action will begin soon after the state committee has concluded its work, are in such a state that publicity had been guarded against carefully.

There have been whispers of a federal investigation heretofore, but none of the rumors seemed to have any ground. That they were based on fact, however, now is apparent.

It is whispered in Wall street that Paul Morton's visit to Washington was to give the president some inside information concerning the proposed investigation and that he might even have been summoned there. Morton would not say whether this was a fact.

Harriman Is Summoned.

Edward H. Harriman has been served with a subpoena to appear as a witness before the Armstrong legislative committee. Harriman will be called upon to explain in detail what he knows about the Equitable's indirect participation in the $50,000,000 Union Pacific blind pool. He will be asked whether it is a fact as stated by James Hazen Hyde that Harriman invested Hyde to take an interest of $2,500,000 in this holding syndicate on behalf of the Equitable, and that he went with Hyde to James W. Alexander, then president of the society, to persuade Alexander the investment was a good one.

The investigation committee will have Hyde's full version of the transaction before it, and it is reported Hyde's testimony will not render Harriman's appearance before the investigators any easier.

DECORATION FOR JAP RULER

King Edward to Confer Order of the Garter on Mikado.

London, Nov. 7.—The foreign office has formally announced that King Edward had selected Prince Arthur of Connaught to proceed to Japan and confer on the Japanese emperor the Order of the Garter. The prince will be accompanied by Lord Redesdale, formerly secretary of the legation at Tokio and at St. Petersburg; Admiral of the Fleet, Sir Edward Seymour, Lieutenant General Sir Thomas Kelly Kenney, former adjutant general of the forces, and others of the military staff and also an official of the foreign office.

Henderson on the Brink.

Dubuque, Iowa, Nov. 7.—Dr. Fred Hancock, attending physician to ex-Speaker David Henderson, who is suffering from an attack of paresis, said the patient might live for a year, although death might occur without a moment's warning.

You Get Up

In the morning tired, languid, and frequently with a headache that is almost unbearable. You have been nervous, restless and sleepless night after night, and gloomy and irritable during the day. This nervous exhaustion affects the heart, lungs and other organs that depend upon the nerves for motive power. Then the stomach fails to digest the food; the heart action is weak, and circulation poor, and the kidneys and liver inactive.

What you need is not a stomach, head, kidney or liver medicine, but Dr. Miles' Nervine to soothe and feed the nerves and build nerve tissue.

"My wife was subject to severe mental strain, which resulted in nervous prostration. The first symptoms were uncontrollable crying and melancholy spells, which increased to such an extent that for over a year she would have a spell every day of from four to six hours duration. She required the constant attention of her physician and attendants. She suffered great pain and anguish. The best physicians attending her could give no relief, and she finally became almost of unsound mind. As a last resort I began giving her Dr. Miles' Nervine, and I had no recurrence of the spells, and she is gaining in health and strength."

Judith of the Plains

—By—
MARIE MANNING,
Author of "Lord Allingham, Bankrupt"

Copyright, 1905, by Harper & Brothers

"Clematis," said she, wisely selecting perhaps the least formidable of the glass, "I want you to give me some idea of the kind of work you have been doing, so that we may all be able to understand each other. Now, in your mathematics, for instance, which of you have finished with your arithmetic, and which?"

"What do you mean?" begged Clematis, somewhat fearful.

"Where are you in your arithmetic?"

"Nowhere, ma'am."

"Do you mean you have never learned any?" Mary Carmichael shuddered as she felt the question.

"Yes, ma'am."

"Is that the case with all of you?"

Emphatic nods left no room for doubt.

"Then we'll leave that for the present. If you will tell me, Clematis, what kind of work you have been doing in your history and English, we will get to work on those today. What books have you been using?"

Not unnaturally Clematis, who was emotional and easily impressed, began to feel as though she were a criminal. She sobbed in a helpless, feminine way. Ben spoke up from the top of the class.

"We ain't got no books," said he, in grim rebuke, as though to put an end to a profligate discussion.

"Do you wish me to understand," quavered Mary, "that you have had no studies—that you—can't read—that you—don't know—anything?"

"That's it," said Ben, with the nearest approach to cheerfulness he had yet manifested.

Meanwhile there lay on the teacher's "desk" copies of Clodd's "Childhood of the World," two of that excellent series of "History Primers" and "The Young Geologist," all carefully selected in the fullness of Mary's ignorance for the little pupils of her imagination. She had brought no primer, as Mrs. Yellett's letter had distinctly said that the youngest child was ten and that all were comparatively advanced in their studies. More than ever Mary longed to penetrate the mystery of that Irish linen decoy, for without doubt it was to be her melancholy fate to conduct this giant band through the alphabet.

Accordingly, she wrote out the letters of the alphabet with large simplicity and a sublime renunciation of flourish. The class received it tepidly. Mary grew eloquent over its unswerving verticality. The class remained lukewarm. The difference between a and h was a matter of indifference to the house of Yellett. They regarded their teacher's strenuous efforts to furnish a key to the acquirement of the alphabet with the amused superiority of "grown-ups" watching infant antics with pencil and paper.

A single glance had convinced Ben that the alphabet was beneath contempt. He yawned automatically at regular intervals—long, dismal yawns that threatened to terminate in a howl, the unchecked, primitive type of yawn that one hears in the cages of the zoological gardens on a dull day. Miss Carmichael raised interrogatory eyebrows, but she might as well have looked reproof at a Bengal tiger.

The class was rapidly promoted to cat-a, cat, but these dizzy intellectual heights left them cold and dull. Ben began to clean his revolver, and on being asked why he did not pay attention to his lesson answered briefly:

"It's all a—d foolishness."

Cacta and Clem were pulling each other's hair. Mary affected not to see this sisterly exchange of torture. Ned whittled a stick, and, in chorus, when their teacher told them that d-o-g spelled dog, they shouted derision and affirmed that they had no difficulty in compelling the obedience of Stump even without this particular bit of crudition.

With the handleless tub as an elbow rest, the teacher took counsel with herself. Strategy must be employed with the intellectual conquest of the Broddings. Summoning all the pedagogical dignity of which she was capable, she asked:

"Boys, don't you want to know how to read?"

"Noop," responded the head of the class.

"Don't you want to know how to write?"

"Noop."

"But, my dear boy, what would you do if you left here and went out into the world, where every one knows these things and your ignorance would be evident at every turn? What would you do?"

"Sing the whole blamed outfit!"

Mary looked at her watch. School had lasted just forty-five minutes. Had time become petrified?

"You're sure one of them loose, hazy things'd become me? Then you can bring it over Tuesday, when you come to the hunt."

"What hunt?" asked Judith in all simplicity.

"Why, the wolf hunt. Peter Hamilton come here three days ago and made arrangements for 'em all to have supper here after it was done. 'Loved there was a young eastern lady in the party, Miss Colebrook, who couldn't wait to meet me. Course you're goin', Judy? You've plumb forgot it or something happened to the messenger. Who ever heard tell of anything happenin' in this yere county 'bout you bein' the very eagle of it?"

Judith had not betrayed her chagrin by the least change of countenance. To the most searching glance every faculty was intent on the shirt waist with the ringed buttons, yet both women felt, by a species of telepathy wholly feminine, that Judith was deeply wounded. Loyal Sarah Yellett decided that Hamilton's guests would get but a scant supper from her if her friend Judith was to be unfavored with an invitation, while Judith, in her own warm heart resented as deeply as Peter's slight of herself his tale of Miss Colebrook's impatience to meet Mrs. Yellett. The matriarch's dominant personality evoked many a smile even from those most deeply conscious of her worth, but it wasn't like Peter to make a spectacle of his ruggedly honest neighbor; nevertheless she remarked coolly:

"I shan't be able to bring your shirt waist things up Tuesday, I'm afraid. Mrs. Yellett, but I'll try to bring them toward the end of the week." Then, with a swift change of subject, "How are the boys getting on with their education, Miss Carmichael?"

The boys looked at Mary out of the corners of their eyes. Their prowess in the field of letters had not been publicly discussed before. Mary Carmichael, emboldened by Judith's presence, looked at her tormentors with a judicious glance.

"The girls are doing fairly well," she replied, suppressing the mischief in her eyes, "but the boys, poor fellows—I think something must be the matter with them. Did they ever fall on their heads when they were babies, Mrs. Yellett?"

"Not more than common. All babies fall on their heads. It's as common as cold."

"Poor boys!" said Mary, with a manner that suggested they were miles away rather than within a few feet of her. "Poor boys! I've never seen anything like it. They try so hard, too, yet they can make nothing of work that would be play for a child of three. They must have fallen on their heads harder than you supposed, Mrs. Yellett."

"Perhaps their skulls were a heap frailer than I allowed for at the time," said Mrs. Yellett, with similar remoteness, yet with a twinkle that showed Mary she understood the situation.

"An infant's skull doesn't stand much knocking about, I suppose, Mrs. Yellett?"

"Not a great deal, if there ain't plenty of vinegar and brown paper handy, and I seldom had such fancy fixings in camp. It's too bad my boys should be dumb 'n account of a little thing like vinegar and brown paper."

"Maw, they be dumb as Injuns," declared Cacta, preening herself, while the Messrs. Yellett reapplied themselves to their dinner with ostentatious interest.

"Well, well," said Mrs. Yellett, "it be a hard blow to me to know that my sons are lackings. There's mothers I know as would give vent to their disappointed ambition in ways I'd consider cool to the absentminded. Now, hearken, the whole outfit of you! An offspring of mine now present and forever after holding his peace who proves feeble minded by the end of the coming week takes over all the work, labor and chores of such offspring as demonstrates himself in full possession of his faculties, the matter to be reported on by the government."

No sovereign issuing a proclamation of war could have assumed a more formidable mien than Mrs. Yellett, squatting erect on the piazza, crowned by her rabbit skin cap. Mary and Judith, with bland, impassive expressions, noted the effect of the mandate. There was not the faintest symptom of rebellion. Each Brodding accepted the matriarch's edict without a murmur.

With an air of further meditation on the efficacy of brown paper and vinegar at the crucial moment, Mrs. Yellett suddenly observed:

"The lacking, like the dog, may be taught to fetch and carry a book, but to learn it be is unable."

"Maw, does it say that in the Book of Hiram?" asked Clematis.

"It says that an' more too. It says: 'The words of the wise are an expense, but the lovin' parent don't grudge 'em.'"

Mary Carmichael had noticed as her alien presence came to be less of a check on Mrs. Yellett's natural medium of expression that she was much addicted to a species of quotation with which she impartially adorned her conversation, pointed family morals or administered an occasional reproof. These family aphorisms were sometimes semicircular, sometimes semicircular in turn of phrase, and built on a foundation of homely philosophy. They were ascribed to the "Book of Hiram" and never failed of salutary effect in the family circle. But the apt quotations that she had just heard piqued Mary's curiosity more than before.

"Do you happen to have a copy of the Book of Hiram, Mrs. Yellett?" she asked, in all innocence, supposing that the homely apothegms were to be found at the back of some patent medicine almanac. Judith Rodney listened in wonder. The question had never before been asked in her hearing.

IMPERIAL EDICT FREES FINLAND

Nicholas Issues Proclamation
Commanding the Diet to Assemble.

AMNESTY DECREE IS ENFORCED

Political Prisoners Are Released from Fortress That Hitherto Has Given
Up but Few of Those Unfortunate
Enough to Pass Its Gates.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 7.—Following is the text of the imperial manifesto concerning Finland:

"By the grace of God, we, Nicholas II., emperor and autocrat of all the Russias, czar of Poland, grand duke of Finland, etc., in virtue of the law of the diet of April 25, 1809, command the opening of the Helsingfors, Dec. 20, of an extraordinary diet to consider the following questions:

"First—The proposals for the budget of 1906-7, provisional taxes, and a loan for railway construction.

"Second—A bill providing by a new fundamental law a parliament for Finland on the basis of universal suffrage with the establishment of the responsibility of the local authorities to the nation's deputies.

"Third—Bills granting liberty of the press, of meeting, and of unions.

"We expect from all an exact execution of our will. NICHOLAS."

FREES POLITICAL PRISONERS.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 7.—Many touching scenes were witnessed Monday when the political prisoners were released under the amnesty decree. At the Schlusselburg fortress, where the most dangerous political prisoners are kept in solitary confinement, a great concourse gathered, looking for loved ones who vanished years ago and whose whereabouts were unknown, but only four were released.

Disappointed women waiting for sons, husbands, or brothers broke down and wept. A man named Franko and a comrade, who said they had spent over twenty years in prison, came out with long white beards. They knew practically nothing about what had occurred during their long imprisonment.

Sasonoff, the murderer of Interior Minister von Plehve; Peter Karpovich, the assassin of Minister of Public Instruction Bogoloff; Gerolmini, the chief of the terrorist conspiracy, and other terrorists were not released. A large body of prisoners released from other prisons later visited various meetings and related their experiences.

Prison Is a Tomb.

Few prisoners incarcerated in the Schlusselburg fortress have ever returned to the world. No fortress in Russia, save Peter and Paul, is more gloomy or has witnessed more cruelty and suffering. Schlusselburg fortress is forty miles distant from St. Petersburg on an island in Lake Ladoga, opposite the head of the river Neva. It is swept by the icy winds from the lake in the winter and surrounded by marshes, which breed clouds of torturing insects, in the summer.

It has long been a proverb in Russia that no one knows the fate of Schlusselburg prisoners. No one knows who are sent there or what will become of them, whether they will be shot or drowned, or whether they will be left to rot from scurvy or die of consumption.

Scenes of Disorder.

The news from the interior shows that there has been little improvement in the situation. In some places disorders have recommenced with redoubled fury. The horrible story of massacre at Odessa is not fully known here. In the Caucasus the Tartars and Russians are cutting each other's throats, and the Armenians are giving themselves up to pillage and incendiarism.

From Buchmut, Bessarabia, comes an entirely new revolting tale. A three days' attack on the Jews began Thursday, with every indication of police organization. Jewish students were beaten, the Jewish stores in the markets were sacked during the day, and during the night the plunder of residences commenced.

Troops arrived on the scene, but the following day the work of pillage was resumed before the eyes of the soldiers and police. The prayers of the hunted Jews for mercy were unavailing. Toward noon the torch was applied to stores and houses. The police would not permit the Jews to fight the fire and the troops were withdrawn. Then the pillage began afresh. It was temporarily stopped Saturday morning through the efforts of the Russian peasants, but the police spread false reports which aroused the mob and there was a renewal of the work of plunder and massacre. The losses are said to be in the millions of dollars.

Disorders in Prague.

Prague, Nov. 7.—Disorders continued Monday, but they were of a less serious nature. Some thirty persons were wounded, but no one was killed. The university students have decided to strike.

Holds Man for Ransom.

Tangiers, Nov. 7.—Raisuli, the Moroccan bandit, has captured a wealthy Moor named Abdeslam Akahoon, whom he holds for ransom. Raisuli got $70,000 for the release of Peril-

Painless, Natural Childbirth.

Baby's coming into the world should be preceded by a certain preparation on the part of every woman who expects to become a mother. She owes it as a duty to her unborn babe, and to herself, her duty to her unborn babe to use every means within her power to aid his entrance into the world. Baby cannot help himself in this ordeal, therefore mother must. He has a hard enough time after his arrival, so let us make his coming easy. His health in after life depends greatly on the manner of his coming: would you have your child a cripple, or a grown-up child; a famous surgeon in Vienna is devoting his life-work to the cure of little helpless cripples, deformed by birth; do not allow your child to become a cripple.

Mother's Friend

Is a balsam which will forestall any possibility of accident at birth; that is, it relaxes all the abdominal muscles and tissues, and permits of an easy access to the child. It eases the mother's pain, and so assists nature that when baby comes he starts out in life with a constitution well able to fight life's battles, and to bloom into strong pure manhood that is the comfort and delight of every true mother's heart.

CAUGHT IN TRAP; MAN ENDS LIFE

Alleged Murderer of Woman on Cutler Mountain Run Down in 'Frisco.

SHOOT'S PARAMOUR AND SELF

When Police Endeavor to Break Door
He Deliberately Puts Bullet Into Companion's Temple and Another
Into His Head.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 7.—Trapped in his room by the police and fully aware that his last avenue of escape had been barred, Milton Franklin Andrews, who murdered Mrs. Bessie Bouton on the top of Cutler Mountain, Colorado Springs, a year ago and murderously assaulted and robbed William Ellis, an Australian horseman at Berkeley, Cal., Monday night, shot and killed Nulda Olivia, his female companion, and then sent a bullet into his own head, causing instant death. That Andrews, for whom the police of the entire country were searching, was fully prepared for the tragedy that closed his career was shown by the fact that he acted without a moment's hesitation.

Police Scent Their Prey.

Having learned that Andrews and Nulda Olivia were living in an upper flat at 745 McAllister street, the police department sent a detail of two policemen and two detectives to make the arrest. Although certain that the persons wanted were in the two-room apartment they occupied, the officers received no answer to their repeated knocking on the door.

At the moment one of the officers was dispatched for an ax with which the door was broken Andrews fired the shot that ended the career of his companion. The bullet was fired into her right temple and she dropped dead on the bed, falling backward with her hand clasped over her breast.

A rambling typewritten statement that presumably had been written by Andrews, who denied that he had anything to do with the murder of Bessie Bouton at Colorado Springs, was found in one of the dead woman's stockings.

Kover Saw Man 'Enant.

Andrews and his companion had been living at the McAllister street house for three weeks. The landlord stated that he had believed that only the woman occupied the apartments, as the man had never been seen.

A little over a month ago Andrews and the woman arrived here on a steamer from Australia. On the voyage they formed the acquaintance of William Ellis, a horseman, who was coming to California to attend the winter racing. Ellis was known to have considerable money in his possession. Friendly relations were established, and when Andrews and the woman engaged a cottage at Berkeley they invited him to luncheon.

During the meal Ellis was struck in the head with a hammer and the woman fired a couple of shots at him, but they missed their mark. Ellis managed to escape and notified the police. A search of the cottage showed that the pair had made complete preparations for disposing of Ellis' body. Implements for dismembering the corpse, acid for mutilating and large pieces of oilcloth for preventing bloodstains were discovered.

Photographs of Andrews were obtained and he was positively identified as the man who was the friend of Bessie Bouton of Syracuse, N. Y., who was murdered at Cutters' canyon, Colorado Springs, about a year ago. The man was then known as Milton Franklin and had an alias of William Curtis.

Bessie Bouton was murdered and later the clothing and body were saturated with benzine and ignited. When the remains were found they were so badly mutilated that only the gold-filled teeth served to identify them.

Four-Year-Old Pricilla May Arrived in Janesville Last Evening
After Long Trip.

Four-year-old Pricilla May arrived in Janesville last evening after a long lonely trip from Buffalo, N. Y. She was met at the depot by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith of 55 Dodge street, whose guest she will be while in the city. Little Miss Pricilla spent a week in Janesville last spring, when her guardians, Stuart and Raymond, appeared at the vaudeville theatre. They stopped at the Smith residence while in the city and the entire neighborhood fell in love with the dainty little miss of four. Since leaving Janesville the little one has longed to return and it was recently arranged that she could come back to spend the winter with Mr. and Mrs. Smith. She arrived last night and almost the entire population of Dodge street bade her welcome.

"HOUSEHOLD"

How to Secure a Perfect Light. (Written for the Semi-Weekly Janesville Gazette.)

By "Kentuckienne."
A farmer's wife who reads the Gazette says she has gotten several good recipes from my articles and now asks that I please send a method of getting a good, clean light from a lamp, as her family have to read and study by it. She adds that she has never been as successful in securing a clear, bright light as she would like. You are certainly wise to keep trying until you do get a good, perfect light. Try this method. It has been a great success in one family where lamps are used: You must clean and fill your lamp every morning. Once a week is not sufficient. Get the best of burners. Use headlight oil and always fill the bowl full of oil. Keep a little brush, plenty of cheese cloths and dissolve a teaspoonful of washing powder in the hot water you use to clean founts, tubes and all parts of the lamp with. Wash the chimney in this suds; then rinse in clear water, wipe dry on cheese cloth and polish high with tissue paper. Trim wicks carefully. Never use a cheap burner; they are no good. Soak the wick in vinegar when dry, put it back and it will never smoke. Put the chimneys in cold water and let boil, then cool, and they will never break.

SIR GEORGE WILLIAMS, Y. M. C. A. FOUNDER, DIES

Man Who Started Great Organization in 1844 Passes Away at His Home in London.

London, Nov. 7.—Sir George Williams, founder of the Young Men's Christian association, and president of its London headquarters for twenty years, died Monday.

Sir George was born in 1821. The story of his life is that of a man who once forgot self and never remembered it again. He was apprenticed to a dry goods dealer at an early age.

Before he reached his majority he conceived the idea that reading, recreation, and religion might be combined to make a society that would be of benefit to young men. He found eleven other young men, who fell in love with the scheme, and obtained permission from his employer to hold a meeting in the room over the store of his employer in London. They decided to call the society the Young Men's Christian association.
